POETRY.

OUR YANKEE GIRLS.

BY G. W. HOLMES.
Let greener lands, and bluer skies,
If such the wide earth shows,
With fairer cheeks and brighter eyes,
Match as the star and rose;
The winds that lift the Georgian's veil,
Or waves Circassia's curls,
Wait to their shores the Sultan's sail—
Who buys our Yankee Girls?
The gay Grissette, whose fingers touch
Love's thousand chords so well;
The dark Italian, loving much,
And more than ows can tell,
And England's fair-haired, blue-eyed dame,
Who birds her brow with pearls—
Ye who have seen them—can they shame
Our own sweet Yankee Girls!

And what if court or castle vaunt
Its children loftier born,
Who heeds the silken tassels' flaunt,
Beside the golden corn?
They ask not for the courtly toil
Of jewelled knights and earls—
The daughters of the virgin soil—
Our free-born Yankee Girls.
By every hill, whose stately pines
Wave their dark arms above
The home where some fair being shines,
To warm the wilds with love;
From barest rocks to bleakest shores,
Where farthest sail unfurls,
That stars and stripes are floating o'er,
God bless our Yankee Girls!

MISCELLANEOUS.

From the Pottsville Miner's Journal.

PHRENOLOGICAL DEVELOPMENTS.

1. AMATIVENESS.—A young gentleman, recently sent for breach of marriage promise, pleaded in statement, that his pa was opposed to the match. Parents have flinty hearts.

2. PHILOPROGENTIVENESS.—There is a place in London where infants are let out at six pence a day to beggars, that they may impose upon those who have this pump fully developed.

3. ADHESIVENESS.—Near Chester during the recent freshet, several hogs were carried down stream, and lodged in trees. This is raising the price of pork!

4. INHABITIVENESS.—It is supposed that 5000 emigrants have left Ireland for New South Wales during the last year.

5. CONCENTRATIVENESS.—These lines were written by a maniac in the walls of his cell:

Could I with ink the ocean fill,
And were the skies of parchment made;
Were every stalk on earth a quill,
And every man a scribe by trade;
To write the love of God above,
Would drain the ocean dry;
Nor could the scroll contain the whole,
Tho' stretched from sky to sky.

6. COMBATIVENESS.—The New Albany (Indiana) Gazette says: "We have received a letter under date of the 16th inst., from a highly respectable member of the Legislature, giving an account of a most disgraceful riot in the House."

7. DESTRUCTIVENESS.—An individual was mortally wounded in the vicinity of St. Charles, N. O. by a Spaniard, who fired a pistol, intending as he says, to kill some one else.

8. ALIMENTIVENESS.—It is not generally known that oysters taken from the shell and broiled on a gridiron, like steaks or any other meats, and then served with such seasoning as the taste of the eater may select, are first rate eating! Try them friend Silver!

9. ACQUISITIVENESS.—A beggar died recently in England, apparently in abject poverty, but several thousand pounds were found in different parts of his garments.

10. SECRETIVENESS.—The Portland Advertiser of January 25th says: "The secret sessions of the Legislature of Maine, it is rumored, were in relation to trespasses on the disputed territory."

11. CAUTIONIVENESS.—The Craton Bank, in Rhode Island, has been in operation over twenty years, and its entire loss thus far, has been but forty eight dollars and thirty eight cents.

12. APPROPRIATENESS.—The leader of the Orchestra at the French Opera in N. Orleans, has received a wreath of diamonds worth near a thousand dollars.

13. SELF ESTEEM.—Niles of the Senate answering an argument from Henry Clay.

14. FIRMNESS.—At the funeral of a child, in the country, the father (an honest farmer), who had suffered this first bereavement, was overwhelmed with grief. The clergyman in attendance endeavored to console him by a soothing address. The grieving man listened a while, when (the clergyman ceasing), he blubbered out, "I've killed chickens, and I've killed calves, but I never had any thing to cut me like this!"

15. CONSCIENTIVENESS.—Great frauds, it is said, have been practiced down east, by selling pigs of the common breed, raised in Berkshire county, Massachusetts, for those of the English Berkshire breed.

16. HOPE.—A special election to fill a vacancy in the Senate, was held week before last, in Randolph county Missouri, which resulted in the election of a decided Whig, by a majority of six votes. Two years ago the loco foco majority in the county was 294.

17. MARVELOUSNESS.—Fanny Wright Esq., it seems, has a rival in New York, in the person of a Mrs. Rose, who, having been divorced from her husband, is lecturing against matrimony and in favor of loco focism.

18. VENERATION.—The Philadelphia Herald and Sentinel, entertaining the firm belief that the Sabbath, as a day of rest, is essentially necessary to man's worldly, if not eternal welfare, has determined to disapprove, hereafter, with the services of those in its employment on that day.

19. BENEVOLENCE.—John Grieg, Esq., of Canadagua, New York, has presented the Society for the relief of orphans, and destitute children, which was incorporated last winter, by the title of the "Rochester Orphan Asylum," a lot containing about an acre and a half, most eligibly situated for buildings for the Institution.

20. CONSTRUCTIVENESS.—A Bridge is to be erected over the Mississippi at St. Louis, to cost 1,000,000 dollars, and to have thirty piers.

21. IDEALITY.—A Hoosier Lawyer thus closed his appeal in a certain case: "Gentlemen of the Jury: while Bonaparte are a marching his army from Elba to Paris, and from Paris to Elba, inundating the whole country in blood, I stand here the humble advocate of this notorious hog thief. The goats may sore to the summits of these mountains, and the sheep may feed on the hills below, and the cattle may crop the grass of the meadows, but my client are no more guilty of stealing the hog than a toad has got a tail!"

22. IMITATION.—A man pretending to be a Methodist clergyman, has been taken up at Poughkeepsie for counterfeiting.

23. MIRTHFULNESS.—The Express Mail is called at New Orleans, the "slow-go-motive."

24. INDIVIDUALITY.—A biography of Robespierre, which appeared in an Irish paper, concludes in the following ludicrous manner:—"This extraordinary man left no children behind him, except his brother, who was killed at the same time!"
